

Red Petrograd: October 1919

The Russian Civil War

The original scenario was written by Richard Clarke for use with the "Triumph of the Will" rules set published by "Too Fat Lardies", and was published by Mark Plant on his web site "Pygmy Wars".

The following information may be used to convert the Red Petrograd scenario to Great War Spearhead.

Scenario notes.

1. In terms of overall size this scenario is at the lowest end of the types of actions for which Great War Spearhead was written. Morale should be tested by regiment equivalent, even though these are smaller than might normally be found in a GWSH scenario.
2. The map found in Richard Clarke's scenario covers a length of 10km. In GWSH terms the map should be set out on a table 8' long by 4' wide.
